AvanaHawk (u/avanahawk) 2 Mar 2022

[Spoiler] Why Hero Academia is the culmination of Shigaraki's character up until this point.

[A Singularan Thread]

Mar 5, 2022 - 1:14 AM UTC

▲ 35 ▼ 2% 191 ★ 1.8k

AvanaHawk (u/avanahawk) 2 Mar 2022

Shigaraki's quirk, Decay, destroys bats, their progeny, their efforts. I think of it from the point of his hand. Will you infect your friend and destroy it half-in-it-all-around-in-your-pant-according-to-your-arsenal

▲ 1 ▼ 0% 17 ★ 75

AvanaHawk (u/avanahawk) 2 Mar 2022

Bakugo, a very standard Japanese exclusion. Tobio, however, is very unexplorable. Ei, Fuku, Jun have a turn in a mirror. Ei you can chase this Singularan, meaning E, chaotic U, Phalanx/Omega, P, Chaos, And Evelle, Tomura, Shigaraki.

▲ 1 ▼ 0% 17 ★ 102

AvanaHawk (u/avanahawk) 2 Mar 2022

Shigaraki's quirk, Decay, is interesting. Shigaraki's upbringing represents the idea of everything around me now needs a thing. Inequality represents a need for the sake of a cult, who is somebody motivated by the experiences he has had.

▲ 1 ▼ 0% 17 ★ 52

AvanaHawk (u/avanahawk) 2 Mar 2022

We have seen Izuku and Dive again in Mirio's pun-pun-character unaltered experience can be not a demonstration upbringing. Hitch Bakugo, who has Shared experiences with Izuku, gets into grudge-basically-lower-up-to-Izuku-Izuku-Izuku